PUZZLED THE APPLE GIRL.

A buxom gal of 22 kept an apple stand near the entrance to the Brooklyn bridge. One day a pleasant-looking middle-aged man, with iron gray hair, bought one of her fine pippins, which he cut in two, when to her astonishment, a $5 gold piece rolled out from the core. "Ah," said he, these are gold pippins you sell! May I have another at the same price?" She had not breath to reply. Taking silence for consent he cut another apple, when a $10 coin dropped from it. Recovering from her amazement the woman refused to sell any more to him, but began cutting her apples on her own account. After destroying about twenty and finding nothing, she desisted, greatly disappointed.

The gentlemanly purchaser was, after some haggling about the price, suffered to pay for another apple, and Mary's cousin was again flabbergasted by a golden eagle being found within it. A crowd by this time gathered and several persons recognized in the purchaser our old friend Herrmann, the eminent prestidigitateur, and all enjoyed the awe-struck bewilderment of the woman. She was about to cut another pippen on her own account when Herrmann offered to show her how to accomplish the feat. Lending her his own knife he used a little magic power, and on opening the apple she found her labors rewarded with a $5 gold piece. This Herrmann allowed her to keep in return for his joke.—New York Press.

This is what Hon. Jake Moore, State Warden of Georgia, says of Kodol for Dyspepsia: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago Ill.—Dear Sirs:—I have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion. About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach. I lost 25 lbs; in fact I made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. Kodol did it. I keep a bottle constantly; and write this hoping that humanity may be benefited. Yours very truly, Jake S. Moore, Atlanta, Aug. 10, 1904." Sold by Chas C. Davis.

RELIGIOUS.

The Rev. Edward H. Edwards, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, took the laymen to task in a sermon Saturday night the subject of which was, "Is There Any Room in Heaven for Lawyers?"

Mr. Edwards divided the obnoxious lawyers into four groups, the corporation lawyer, the Police Court lawyer, the roustabout lawyer and the shyster. He assailed the shyster or divorce lawyer whom he designated as a moral vulture living on the lust of sin of men and women. He pointed out the crimes committed in the name of the law and bitterly denounced the corporation lawyer who he said makes it his business to know how to evade the law.

The Police Court lawyer, who lives off the mistakes and sins of the unfortunate and who prosecutes or defends regardless of guilt or innocence according to the size of the fee, he said would find no place in heaven. The roustabout lawyer he said lived by stirring up trouble and he declared if such person manages to get into heaven his first business would be to attack the title to somebody's mansion in the skies.

Uncle Joe Cannon last fall entertained a constituent from the State that is famous for its corn as well Cannon.

The guest found deep satisfaction in every dish that was set upon the hotel table, but the statesman was entirely engrossed in a huge platter of boiled sweet corn, to which the rest of his dinner served only as a relish. Ear after ear of corn was turned adroitly beneath the speaker's teeth, and the countryman gradually forgot his own appetite in gazing at this process.

"Joe," he blurted out finally, "I wish you would tell me in confidence what it costs you to board here."

"Oh, a matter of $5 a day," his host replied, picking up a fresh ear of corn in place of a mutilated cob.

"Now, don't you think, Joe," the farmer remarked shrewdly, "that you could get a good deal more reasonable rate at a livery stable?"

A special from Nebraska says: W. J. Bryan, who is on his way to Chicago, was greeted by a large crowd of admirers when he arrived at Omaha Friday. Although protesting that this is not a speech-making trip, he was induced to mount a baggage truck at the depot and address the crowd during the fifteen minutes the train remained here.

He was introduced by Congressman John Sharp Williams. Mr. Bryan spoke as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen: I want to say to you that it is twelve years since Williams began introducing me, and he has been at it off and on ever since. If all the States would do as well as Mississippi has done, I would, long ago, have been returned to private life, after being President for four years, for Mississippi was the one State in which I carried every precinct in the State, and returns now indicate that I may reasonably expect the electoral vote from there this year.

I am in rather an embarrassing position. I have not been notified of my nomination as yet, and it would not be proper for me to enter upon any discussion of politics until the platform is formally presented to me and I have been officially notified that I have been nominated.

In the course of the campaign I will have opportunity to discuss the various questions that are at issue, and I shall not enter upon that discussion now. I will from time to time also get reports from various sections. In fact they are coming now, and the reports indicate this—that the Democratic party this year is more united than it has been since 1892, and that in itself is a good omen, for when the Democratic party is united it has very close to a majority of the votes in the United States, if not an absolute majority. [Applause.]

When we commence with a united party, we are a long way on the road to victory. Then, too, the Republican party is more divided than it has been in the last sixteen years. The Republican party has a larger load to carry than it has had to carry before. It has for instance, enormous appropriations to carry; it has a deficit to carry and it has a panic that it cannot lay on anybody else. It has very unfairly attributed all events to the Democrats when they were in power, and it will take more than four months to undo the arguments it has been making against Democrats.

MACK ASCHAIRMAN.

The selection of Norman E. Mack as chairman of the National Democratic Committee with the consent of Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, and W. J. Connors, chairman of the New York State Democratic Committee, not only insures the national Democratic party a practical and business-like management of the campaign, but materially adds to the Democratic chances of carrying New York for Mr. Bryan. With Murphy, Connors and Mack united, the last element of serious dissension in the New York Democracy removed the disaffection of McCarron not offering material cause for uneasiness to those interested in Democratic success.

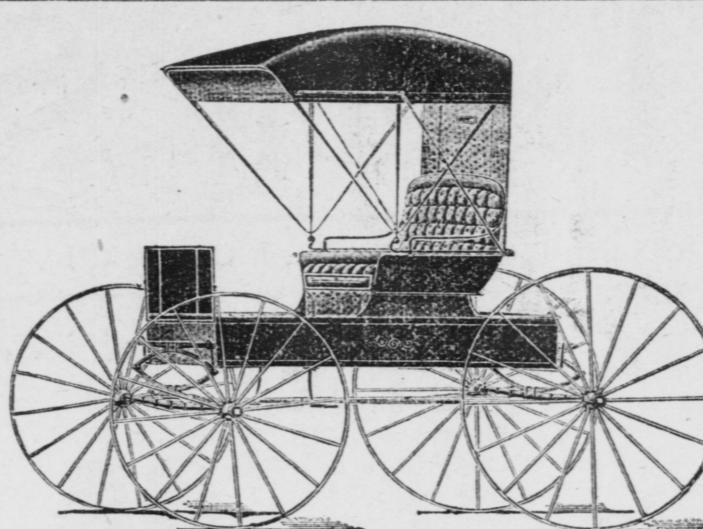

Gov. Hughes is fairly certain to be the nominee of the republicans for Governor, but Gov. Hughes will have opposed to him practically the whole of the machine and the racing interests which represent no small degree of moneyed strength. The Republican party will not enter the campaign united. The Democratic party will. New York is always a debatable State, and Mr. Bryan is stronger in New York than in any of his former races.

For a man who knows nothing of practical politics, it would seem that Mr. Bryan has made a remarkably good guess in selecting Mack, and has shown good generalship in assuring to the new national chairman the support of Murphy and Connors.—Louisville Times.

LIVINGSTON

Mrs. W. H. Satterfield and two daughters, of Louisville were guest of Mrs. Satterfield's sister, Mrs. H. D. Magee at the Eight Gables from Tuesday until Saturday afternoon when they returned to Mt. Vernon where they are spending the summer with Mrs. Satterfield's other sister, Mrs. R. A. Sparks.—S. E. Pennington is making some much needed improvements to the Eight Gables Hotel by a new porch floor and a new coat of paint which adds very much to the beauty of the place. Sam is certainly a hustler and is worthy of the success he is having.

W. F. Sheridan Supt of Transportation for the L. & N. was in our city Thursday and Friday last on business.—W. W. Wright attended the Stanford fair last Thursday and speaks in the highest terms of the fair.—P. W. Durham who has been very low of typhoid fever is convalescent.—Mrs. Bowman who has been quite sick for some weeks, is much improved and is able to be out again.—There was a meeting called at the Calvary Hall Tuesday evening by the tax payers of our school district to investigate manner in which the repairs were made to the school building there being complaint that there was discrimination used in the letting of the contracts for the repairs. There were some thirty-five citizens present and a committee was appointed to wait upon the board of trustees and get the facts in the case and make these reports at a meeting which is to be held at the Hall on next Monday evening. Let every citizen come out and show an interest in these meetings and don't stay away and say things on the streets which you cannot speak in these meetings; this is as it should be and shows the proper spirit.

ABOUT MT. VERNON

If you can't boast don't knock. Push for your home town, not against it.

We have a good town and its getting better all the time. All stand together and pull for the good of our town and county.

Don't make a nuisance of yourself by running down your home town.

Keep your eye on the man that has no good word for his town. There is something wrong with him.

A look around our town will convince anyone that things are moving along decidedly better than in the years gone by.

There is plenty of work here for everyone. No excuse for loafers or to go away to hunt jobs. Plenty of them right here.

There never was a town organization but had its criticisms, some probably just, but mostly uncalled for if the situation was properly studied and understood.

Loafers clubs have been disbanded; unable to find any further excuses for dodging work or holding their organizations together. Plenty of work right at our doors.

A steady growth has marked Mt. Vernon's progress for the last seven years. The last two years has shown an increased activity in all lines of business enterprises, building streets and other improvements.

That petty jealousy that existed in the past between our business men is now almost wholly absent. Each desires success to all instead of wishing less competition. This is as it should be and shows the proper spirit.

The first authentic outline of Mr. Bryan's plan of campaign was announced Wednesday at Fairview. A few prepared speeches will be made at central points, and nearly all of these will be made by the first of October. During the month of October he expects to remain at home and assist in the educational work of the campaign through the discussion of public questions, in the form of interviews, signed articles and letters. Mr. Bryan announces that in coming speeches he will discuss Mr. Taft's address delivered Tuesday in Cincinnati.

TO THE INSURING PUBLIC:—On April 18th, I suffered a loss of my entire stock of goods by fire, which was insured in the New York Underwriters Agency represented by Mr. E. S. Albright of Mt. Vernon. On May 5th I received a check in full settlement of every dollar called for in the policy. I can heartily recommend Mr. Albright and his companies to any one, wanting fire insurance.

Wednesday visited six of Kentucky's most substantial and thriving cities in Lexington, Richmond, Mt. Sterling, Winchester, Lancaster and Stanford. In every place they were received with genuine Kentucky hospitality and welcome.

One hundred business men of Louisville Tuesday visited Frankfort, Georgetown, Paris and Cynthiana on the first of a three day's tour of the Bluegrass cities. The delegation was warmly received at every point, and enthusiastic speeches were made declaring for a closer union of the smaller cities with the metropolis of the State. Railroad facilities came in for a larger share of attention.

The steamer Island Queen was fired on during its trip up the Ohio River Tuesday night, with Judge Taft and the notification committee and guests aboard, and Mrs. C. B. Russell, of Cincinnati standing on the hurricane deck directly under the seat occupied by the presidential candidate, was struck in the face and breast by a number of small shot. COURIER-JOURNAL CUTS.

A SPECIAL RATE OF $1.25 FOR THE CAMPAIGN AND ELECTION.

Capt. Jack Crawford, army scout, Indian fighter, poet and lecturer, who has been a guest of Gen. Rodger D. Williams, of Lexington for several days, although a lifelong Republican, will not vote for Taft, but is an ardent supporter of William J. Bryan for President. Concerning his position on the presidential issue, Capt. Crawford said:

"Of course, I am a Republican. I was a Yankee soldier, and got shot twice during the unpleasantness. I believe in Roosevelt. He is the greatest man on earth to day. I believe, also, that William Jennings Bryan thinks more of Roosevelt than the majority of the politicians who nominated Taft, against their will. On both occasions, when Bryan was nominated before, I was on the Republican staff of national speakers, and gave up $350 a week and expenses to take $200 for the purpose of helping McKinley. I also did all that I could for Roosevelt. But I will raise no hand against Bryan in this campaign."

"My first reason for not doing so is that Bryan stands for all that is best in the Roosevelt policy. Second, Bryan and Roosevelt are both opposed by the same outlaw trusts—the Guffeys, Sullivans and the boss Tammanyites, whipped into line by the voice of the people and their own cowardice. Allied, as they are, with corporation interests, they are, with corporation interests, they are simply obeying their lords and masters, the money kings, because Roosevelt was, is and always will be for a square deal and progressive policies against the scheming and plotting of men intent on defeating his programme."
